Chapter 1

Setting Sail

It was just after sunrise when Scott arrived. He threw his bag in the boat and we climbed aboard. We were off to catch a marlin. The marlin is one of the toughest fish in the ocean.

Scott had his video camera.
He was going to film the big event.

Dog stood on the pointy end of the boat. He watched as the boat cut its way through the water. I watched the shore disappear from view.

We were headed for the deep sea. There would be plenty of marlin out there—just waiting for me to catch them.

Scott stood in the back of the boat. He was steering and shouting orders. Scott was the captain.

“Put on your life jackets! Scrub those decks! Smile for the camera,” he yelled.
