

Is It Tattling or Telling?

Text and photos by Carolina Cisneros

The teacher had already talked to the children about tattling the week before. But she was still hearing a lot of tattling. She decided to speak to them again about the difference between tattling and telling.

The teacher began with Anita, who was still tattling on others.

“Anita, if you see that Paula has two pencils and should only have one, and you tell the teacher, is that tattling or telling?”
