

People Say Hello

Before Reading	During Reading	After Reading
Q1: Let's look at the cover. What is going on? A1: Five children are at the park. They are waving to each other. Q2: What are the children doing? A2: One boy is riding his bike. One girl is walking her dog. One boy is running. One boy is walking. One girl is walking and holding her cat. All the children are saying hello.	Q1: What countries do you see in the book? A1: I see China, France, Italy, Mexico, Kenya, and Japan. Q2: How do the people say hello in each country? A2: In China, people say, "Ni hao!" In France, people say, "Bonjour!" In Italy, people say, "Buon giorno!" In Mexico, people say, "¡Hola!" In Kenya, people say, "Jambo!" In Japan, people say, "Konnichiwa!"	Q1: In our country, what are different ways people greet each other? A1: Possible answers: People say, "Hello!" or "Hi!" Some people wave or say hello in sign language. Some people say, "Hey!" Q2: Do you know how people say hello in other countries? A2: Possible answers: In Korea, people say, "Ann-yeong-haseyo!" In Germany, people say, "Hallo!" In Hawaii, people say, "Aloha!"

Pronunciation Key

Ni hao (nee-how) • Bonjour (bon-zhoor) • Buon giorno (bwohn johr-noh)
 Hola (oh-la) • Jambo (jum-boh) • Konnichiwa (kone-nee-chee-wah)

People Say Hello
 © 1996 Creative Teaching Press Inc.
 Written by Will Barber
 Illustrated by Sally J.K. Davies

Revised Edition © 2017 Creative Teaching Press Inc.
 Illustrated by Gwé
 Art Director: Moonhee Pak
 Project Director: Stacey Faulkner

Published in the United States of America by:
 Creative Teaching Press Inc.
 6262 Katella Ave.
 Cypress, CA 90630

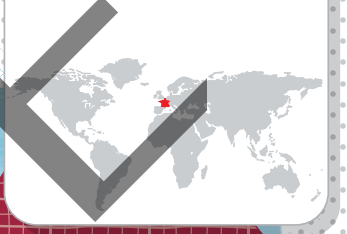

All rights reserved. No part of this book may be reproduced in any form without the written permission of Creative Teaching Press Inc.

People Say Hello

People say hello in China.

People say hello in France.